(Dear [name],

I am a highly skilled Administrative Assistant with a strong background in successful business management strategies and innovative operational solutions. I've had extensive experience with a broad range of professional and administrative positions and would embrace the opportunity to contribute to your organization's future. In addition, with exceptional customer support capabilities, I can offer a level of versatility that can make a real difference to your company's bottom line.

Accustomed to fast-paced environments where discipline in a priority and handling multiple jobs is the norm, I enjoy challenges and will work hard to achieve your objectives. If you're seeking a qualified and productive individual who looks at challenges as opportunities to learn, then I believe I am the right person for the job.

I have included my resume for your review. Some of my key strengths and achievements include:

- Extensive experience with large-scale business clients providing high-level support, building critical business relationships, and addressing the long and short-term needs of the customer.
- Results-oriented site supervision and project management capabilities including scheduling, staff management, project budgeting, and strategic planning.
- Excellent organizational, time management, and communication skills with the flexibility and experience required to adjust to regularly changing schedules and shifting priorities.
- Exceptional professional skills including the ability to complete high-level projects, organize large meetings, manage expense reports, and maintain strict confidentiality.
- A hands-on problem solver and critical thinker who can quickly learn new systems, with experience in a variety of office management software systems including contact management software, Microsoft Office, and Lotus Notes.

My administrative skills and practical knowledge are well suited to the goals of your company. I would appreciate an interview to discuss the steps in which I could assist you in accomplishing your goals. I will call your office and email concerning any questions you may have, and to arrange a meeting. Of course, you may contact me directly at any time. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mavis Townsend
Bellevue
